By HELEN ROWLAND.

Alimony is the price of peace. The reason that a woman who takes the downward path has so much attention is that there are so many men going that way. A man makes a virtue of a necessity when he prides himself on his devotion to a wife who is so fascinating that he can't help it. Tell a man that a woman is everything that she should be and he will yawn and take your word for it; but tell him that she isn't all she ought to be and he is immediately inspired to investigate for himself.

Men declare they admire common sense in a woman; but a physical culturist with a perfect digestion and a thirty-inch waist hasn't a chance in the world against a foolish, unhealthy little thing in a French corset, a princess frock, and open-work stockings. The ultimate proof of a man's love is the self-restraint he shows when he allows a girl to run her fingers through his hair without putting up his hand to see if the part is still there. A little knowledge makes a man a fool-but it makes a woman suspicious.

The best way to cure a man's love is to return it with interest-and then watch him lose the interest.

What would our grandmothers have thought of blue carnations and violet had not taught me to love them. The fate of other cities had awakened my fears for Richmond. With my baby on my arm, I opened the door, and looked up at a tall, gaunt, sad-faced man in ill-fitting clothes. He asked: 'Is this George Pickett's home?' "With all the courage and dignity I could muster, I replied: 'Yes, and I am his wife and this is his baby."

'I am Abraham Lincoln. "The President!" I gasped. I had never seen him, but I knew the intense love and reverence with which my soldier always spoke of him. The stranger shook his head and replied:

'No; Abraham Lincoln, George's old "The baby pushed away from me and reached out his hands to Mr. Lincoln, who took him in his arms. As he did so an expression of rapt, almost divine tenderness and love lighted up the sad face. It was a look that I never have scan on any other face. The baby opened his mouth wide and insisted upon giving his father's friend a dewy infantile kiss.

As Mr. Lincoln gave the little one back to me, he said:

"Tell your father, the rascal, that I forgive him for the sake of your bright
